

DAVID WILCOCK ABOUT ILLUMINATI

THE ANTI-OBAMA MOVEMENT

I have never taken as much abuse for this policy as I have since Obama became a major Presidential candidate, and particularly since he won the election and instantly became the new epicenter of online conspiracy theorists' "rage against the machine."

Neither Alex Jones nor Jeff Rense, the two biggest players in the anti-Obama conspiracy media, seem to be aware of the massive amount of lies and propaganda being written and fed to them from within the Neocon and Illuminati factions themselves, causing them to deliberately overlook the vast majority of evidence that counters their established positions.

I respect both of these men for their courage, bravery and intelligence. I have active subscriptions to both of their MP3 archives. I have been reading both of their websites since I first got online in 1995. I have never been invited to appear on either of their shows, which is fine. I sincerely hope their information is never obstructed, as historically it has been extremely beneficial to know these things and be aware of the bigger picture.

Jeff's site used to go into a lot more detail about UFOs and the hopeful aspects of what is going on in the world, and it has changed quite a bit in the last several years. James Neff's beautiful CG animations of UFOs in the sky have now been replaced by David Dees' inflammatory political graphics, and the bulk of writers seem to be more negative, sarcastic and savagely opinionated than I ever remember them being in the past.

I seem to be one of the only scholars out there who is simultaneously aware of the insider politics and has not joined the nearly-unanimous anti-Obama internet conspiracy brigade. Does this mean I'm hopelessly wrong and lost? Time will tell. Time will tell.

SIMPLICITY IS NOT NECESSARILY A GOOD IDEA

It is very easy to target a single figure, such as a politician, and be angry at him or her, rather than understand the deeper story of what you are being shown.

Jones' latest film, "The Obama Deception," identifies 10-12 members of Obama's cabinet as being in one or more of these three groups: the Bilderberger Group, the Council on Foreign Relations and the Trilateral Commission. It also effectively proves that he attended a Bilderberger meeting himself.

However, this is not sufficient to prove that these people are all working on the same page. Though you can prove that Obama has some of these people in his cabinet, you cannot prove that he is working for the groups they represent, or that he is their 'puppet.' And there is an ever-increasing body of evidence that strongly suggests he is working to bring these rogue groups down.

Both Jones and Rense have a lot on their hands, keeping afloat in a difficult economy, constantly updating their sites with many different articles, running daily radio shows and in Jones' case, full-time video production and frequent community activist work as well.

With so much going on in both cases, it is very difficult to have the time to notice all the subtleties of the "Big Picture," particularly because it is so compartmentalized that no one person has all the answers. You really do need to have an exceptional memory and incredible research skills to assemble a view of what is really going on. It also helps, strongly, to be able to interview real insiders who would never dream of speaking to someone like

Jones or Rense, because they would consider it a death sentence. I have been blessed to have multiple opportunities to speak with people who have very compelling, singularly valuable testimonies, and yet are almost completely unrepresented in either the Jones or Rense platforms.

And though I've beaten this drum many times, and my email attackers completely ignore me on this point since there is no adequate defense that can be mounted, the Voice of the White House source — sarcastic and mean-spirited as he can be — has very consistently demonstrated his accuracy over the last four years or so. Ever since Obama got on the scene, nearly a year ago, the Voice of the White House has given a consistent view of the sheer panic amongst the elite insiders about the possibility of Obama winning, because of the fact that he is not under their control, and does not have sufficient "dirty laundry" to be easily blackmailed.

AT LEAST FIVE MAJOR 'INSIDER' FACTIONS

From the combined testimony of many different sources, including those I have interviewed myself who have largely avoided publicity, we now can identify at least five major factions at work here:

1. Faction 1A: The Rothschild-based "Illuminati."

Overthrew traditional European royalty and seized control of much of European power and finance. Also controls the American Federal Reserve. Historically has controlled and managed the 'left' in American politics, through the Democratic Party. Almost exclusively Caucasian, with a heavy mystery-school / Masonic / secret society focus, and a Luciferian belief system.

Lucifer is the wronged good guy in their system, not Satan or the Devil. They fought savagely and desperately for Hillary to win the election, including having Lady de Rothschild publicly go on television to denounce Obama — even to the point of defecting to McCain!

The Illuminati had believed in Hillary's victory strongly enough to write in a woman president to this year's episodes of "24." They also put in a very strong death threat against Obama by having an African-American president who was then assassinated on the show, prior to the female president taking office. Is it any wonder Obama didn't offer Hillary the vice-presidential slot, but gave her a position to quell the opposition?

This group does have a certain amount of ET-derived technologies and treaties with negative ETs such as the Annunaki, but have far less use and development of these technologies than the rival New World Order faction. Though they planned on engineering a "planned economic collapse that would make the Great Depression look like a Sunday School picnic," they have been utterly brutalized by the real-world effects of what has happened once the plug was pulled. War is very messy and almost never goes as you planned, and they are now desperate to stop the bleeding.

Their companies — the big banks, brokerage houses, insurance giants and the like — have been savagely weakened and / or bankrupted by this collapse. They are desperate for the latest round of bailout monies to stay afloat. Yet Obama's administration is forcing them to give up nothing short of their firstborn, and submit to drastic regulations, if they wish their companies to survive in any form.

2. Faction 1B: The Rockefeller-based "New World Order."

The Neo-Con / Fundamentalist Christian / Republican Right in America.

Though it is the inheritor of the German tradition from World War II, it schizoidally functions as Fundamentalist Christian, and is sympathetic to their cause. In the deeper sense it is only a recent "offshoot" of the Illuminati, and has even greater sympathy with their occultist perspective. Also calls themselves the "Brotherhood of Death" thanks to their history with the Skull and Bones secret society. Israel has a heavy influence in this group, but this is primarily through blackmail and other forms of coercion. That alliance has already shown signs of splintering in recent months.

The New World Order faction fought savagely to have McCain / Palin win the Presidential election, threatening full-scale race war and revolution by how bitter the attacks against Obama were waged, including the Reverend Wright footage and fanning the flames of interracial unrest. Responsible for planning and controlling 9/11 to cement their economic and political power shortly after rigging the 2000 election to install George W. Bush as President. This faction controls a great deal of back-engineered ET technology, and thus can do a great deal of damage. Had they won the election, we almost certainly would be in a dramatically expanded war at this point, with attacks against Iran threatening to cascade into a wider regional conflict in the Middle East and eventually, they had hoped, into the next world war. This is their classic ploy to save the economy while reducing population, and thus "saving the world", at the same time.

The Twin Towers could not have been brought down with so little remaining debris, at free-fall speed, without the advanced technologies this group has at work — including the conventional demolition tools as well as mini-nukes and top-secret disintegration beam capabilities to destroy the support columns and vaporize all the concrete into dust, which in turn blanketed the entire city and was unfortunately radio-active.

They are now very seriously on the ropes, their political power all but destroyed, and sliding further and further down by the day. Their acts are becoming ever-increasingly transparent and desperate as a result, and action cannot be taken swiftly enough to expose and nullify their influence.

As Benjamin Fulford has indicated — and I agree — this is the group that must be stopped first and foremost. Their loss of the Presidential election has already gone a long way towards sealing their defeat.

This group was very likely responsible for the recent airline disaster I wrote about, where two women met with Obama about re-opening 9/11 hearings, and their plane went down in flames a week later. No one in the anti-Obama conspiracy crowd has mentioned my article or realized this connection themselves, though it is very obvious that this was no ordinary plane crash.

This group, more than any of the other factions, completely owns and controls a major corporate news network — none other than that bastion of "Fair and Balanced Media," Fox.

3. "Faction 2": The true historic Knight Templars and Davidic Bloodlines. Traditional royal families and their offshoots, most of whom have been deposed and wiped out by the Illuminati long ago, and / or replaced with rival Illuminati families who then claimed their own royalty. The Knight Templar group was also infiltrated by the Illuminati faction and taken over, though Faction 2 claims to have preserved their original traditions. This group has historically been called the "White Hats" or the "Good Guys" amidst the secret factions. I have learned a substantial amount about them through my discussions with Rayelan Allan, whose husband Gunther was very high-ranking in the group, as was she, for having been born into it herself — though he had far more contact with them than she did.

"Faction 2" used to lump the Illuminati and New World Order groups together as "Faction One," and apparently the NWO faction was overtly in cooperation with the Rothschild / Illuminati faction up until as late as 1996, when a top Rothschild was found assassinated and it was apparently a Rockefeller reprisal for a similar high-level assassination from the 1970s. (I will share this data in a future article.)

Hence these were not categorized as separate groups by Faction 2. What we now call the New World Order was, at the time, simply called the "East Coast Elite" within Faction One.

The reality on the ground is that Faction 2 has had to use similar 'tradecraft' and dirty tricks as the Illuminati / NWO factions in order to avoid being wiped out by them, as individuals and as nations. Until Rayelan's testimony came along I did not have sufficient information to really know if this group even existed, but I haven't even begun to summarize everything I've learned from her. It will be substantial.

In her own way she is as valuable as a Henry Deacon or a Benjamin Fulford in terms of scope and complexity of what she brings to the table. I am encouraged to find out that this group really does exist — my readings mentioned them in the late 1990s — and they appear to have humanity's best interests at heart, though I do not agree with everything I have heard about them and their approach. I am open to learning more.

They are far and away the most deeply involved of all the groups in advanced secret projects and technologies, and this is because they have apparently preserved this heritage all along. Most likely this is also something that only the people at the top of the organization are aware of, for the sake of security.

Ever since the times of Atlantis they have had stargate technology, advanced UFO-style flying craft and other such technology. They have been the insider group most consistently pushing for disclosure and trying to reveal the truth at a speed that humanity can tolerate.

Henry Deacon has had jobs working for all the above factions at various times, and in his work with the Faction 2 / Templar elements he was told that they have always had these technologies, kept in secret. They never pushed any negative teachings on him at these assignments — nothing about genocide, Luciferian philosophy or the like. Henry laughed when I tried to pin down a date for when they came into possession of these technologies.

According to Rayelan, Faction 2 was behind the King of Bavaria bringing down Weishaupt's Illuminati in the 1700s. They are also the true American Founding Fathers, the original group that created the American Revolution to throw off Illuminati control. They obviously are putting out movies that expose the Illuminati agenda and / or reveal inside information.

This would include 2001, 2010, Eyes Wide Shut (which cost Kubrick his life,) Contact, the first Tomb Raider movie, the Lord of the Rings series, the Narnia series as well as the entire Star Wars series of George Lucas. The Star Wars "prequels" in particular were very relevant to real-world issues amongst these warring inside factions. It appears that Obama's candidacy has been supported by this group, though at this point we have no concrete evidence to support the idea. Richard Hoagland points out compelling suggestions of this collaboration in his recent conference footage, "The Hyperdimensional Election of Barack Obama."

4. The New International Group — Russia / Asian Secret Societies faction. Thanks to Benjamin Fulford, who used to be the primary Asian commentator for Forbes Magazine, we know that the Asian countries have largely thrown off the Illuminati and NWO, and Russia is now completely free of these influences. India is another major player in this group, along with many other smaller countries including much of South America.

This group is not occult in nature, nor does it seem to have any spiritual philosophy per se, other than "Do No Harm." En masse, they have so quickly grown into an economic power that we have silently gone from the Group of Eight nations, or "G8," to the Group of Twenty, or "G20" that is meeting right now. Is it not ironic how there has been virtually NO discussion of this in the Western mainstream media?

This group now has the financial muscle to shut down the others completely, but that is not what they want. They are pushing for a much fairer and saner world financial system, and are very likely going to get their wish. Obama's administration is almost certainly aware of them and cooperating with them to some degree.

This Russian / Asian faction has the full use of all the advanced "torsion field" technologies developed by the Russians, largely in secret, over the last century. It is very likely that they are aware of and have worked with the Templar "white hat" Faction 2, and certainly have worked with the last group, the Middle East faction.

5. The Middle East / Order of Assassins faction. There is a great secret tradition in the Middle East as well, which is most greatly realized in the secret Sufi traditions. This group apparently does not possess much advanced technology, but does retain the ancient magical traditions. Other factions have been fascinated by the Sufi wisdom and have sought to implement it. This group was also historically responsible for the Order of Assassins, and their research into political murders was implemented by the other groups due to its extreme effectiveness.

This group has been both the "good guy" and the "bad guy" over the generations, and the closest they came to worldwide power was through the Ottoman Empire. They have a substantial financial stake in world affairs thanks to their control of the oil economy. Last year's drop in oil prices was partially designed by the New World Order faction to destroy their political influence by bankrupting them, but it appears to have completely failed.

This group has historically cooperated with the New World Order and the Illuminati to varying degrees, and for a time had access to Looking Glass technology, allowing them a window into the future. They now appear to have largely, if not completely turned against both of these groups.

They now seem to be increasingly sympathetic with the New International Group and may well have already formalized some sort of treaty with them. Again, they will push for a new, saner, fairer and more regulated financial system that stops these grandiose abuses from occurring. We can also expect much more cooperation with the Obama administration.

MORE COMPLEX THAN IT APPEARS

Though all these groups are secret, only two of them are predominantly negative — the New World Order and the Illuminati. Those two groups are also actively working to bring each other down over deep internal differences in philosophy and divergent desires for power and control. According to Rayelan, the Templar faction has been planning the economic collapse we are now going through for "well over a hundred years," and all along it was intended to bankrupt Faction One (now the Illuminati and the New World Order) and nullify their negative influence. This largely appears to have succeeded.

And amazingly, I have found prophetic statements from within my own readings that suggests this was all known and foreseen in 1999, which I will share in my next article.

ASK THE QUESTIONS

Jones invites the viewers of his films to question his data and not accept it blindly, and I fully accept that invitation. When he says towards the end of "The Obama Deception" that Obama is "more of the same" and was 'put in' as a 'puppet' who will "serve and protect the international bankers," I must disagree.

I disagree not by mere opinion, but by the incredible thrust of news stories emerging every day, showing us how the old systems are being torn apart in real time. Once I have put all this data together in a short, summarized form it will be very impressive. At that point my critics will be relying more upon their beliefs than upon the actual data.

Remember... hate quickly becomes religious in scope, and often loses touch with any grounded reality. This is precisely what happened to me in my own life. The people I associated with wanted to be first, and because I consistently worked for the greater good rather than the individual, I suffered for it. Most of them still see me through a negative lens for this very reason.

The very same thing applies to Obama. If you've read and believed the negative articles, and found a sense of satisfaction and 'payoff' by being one of the 'few' who is "Not Brainwashed By The Mainstream Media and Sees That Obama is the Antichrist," then at this point it will take overwhelming evidence to convince you otherwise... and it may not even be possible, regardless of what happens. Now Fox News is trying to harness this collective negativity — largely seeded by this same New World Order / Neocon faction — and use it as momentum to organize a secessionist movement, attempting to destroy the Union to create the "Fox Nation."